Matching the Apron to You

Techno-Aide Sizing Charts are based on averages. But let’s face it... nobody is average! So, in order to get the Best Fit for You, please consider the following when measuring yourself for either a Standard or a Custom garment:

- PROTECTION IS PRIMARY: Why are you wearing an apron? Protection from radiation! Some companies promise lighter weight garments, but their garments just don’t measure up to proper specs. At Techno-Aide, we’re much more concerned about your health and safety. Comfort is important, and while our garments are comfortable, comfort will always take a back seat to protection. Isn’t that why you’re purchasing Protective Apparel?
- CIRCUMFERENCE CONSIDERATIONS: when measuring for a Front Protection Apron, measure from one side of the widest part of your body, around to the other side - the actual distance you want protected. Then, tell us if that measurement is your chest, tummy, or hips.
- HEIGHT CONSIDERATIONS: in relation to your circumference, do you have a long or short torso? We want to make sure that you are adequately protected!

Getting the Best-Fit

If you don't think that our standard sized garments will fit you properly, we are pleased to offer you the chance to create your own size, to fit your specific body measurements. Just complete the form below and we will create your customized protective wear. Please note, that due to the nature of customized apparel, these garments cannot be returned. Please be accurate. Thanks!

Types of Positioning Sponge Foam

Techno-Aide manufactures and provides FOUR different types of sponge foam that meet a wide range of needs to ensure proper patient positioning, imaging efficiency, and accuracy. All sponges are radiolucent and fire-retardant.

Standard Foam (STD) : standard open-cell foam for general positioning. Color: light green. Shown on pages 54-65.

Firm/Bariatric Foam (FRM) : a higher density open-cell foam than standard foam, and is used to support larger/heavier patients for positioning. Color: light green. Shown on pages 60 & 64.

Closed Cell Foam (CLSD) : extra firm closed-cell foam resists fluid absorption. It can only be custom ordered and is limited to a gray rectangular block up to 4" thick. Typically used as weight-bearing.

Radiolucent Gel Pads (GEL) : radiolucent gel pads that aid in pressure distribution. Made of non-conductive cross lined polymer that will not leak, ooze, or evaporate. It is also tear and puncture resistant. Shown on pages 70-71.

GEL Patient Positioners

Radiolucent Gel Pads aid in pressure distribution without bottoming out. These pads are made of a solid, non-conductive, cross lined polymer that will not leak, ooze, or evaporate and is resistant to punctures and tears. Each antimicrobial, anti-bacterial pad is hypoallergenic, latex-free, silicone-free, and plasticizer-free, and will not harden over time. Following the instructions, the pads can be heated and cooled. Note: 0.25" thick gel is equivalent to .051mm Aluminum.

FLAT PAD POSITIONERS

Protects skin from pressure sores and ulceration. Great for short term and long term situations.

Elite Style

Elite markers have the most DURABLE aluminum casing. RED for "R" markers and misc. words / BLUE for "L" markers. Provides the best in QC!

REFERENCE: Merrill's Atlas of Radiographic Positioning and Procedures, 9780323073219, text extract, "Each radiograph must include an appropriate marker that clearly identifies the patient's right (R) or Left (L) side. Medico-legal requirements mandate that these markers be present. R and L markers must be used with CR and DR digital imaging. The development of digital imaging and the use of CR and DR have enabled an environment in which the R and L markers can be placed on the image electronically. This is not recommended because of the great potential for error and legal implications. Anatomic markers should be placed on the CR cassette or DR table similar to screen-film cassettes."

Image Scaling Marker Device

Scaling a digital image is mandatory in order to assure the highest level of diagnostic accuracy. It is critical to know the difference between the size of the anatomy shown on a digital monitor as compared to the actual anatomy. An easy to use, easy to clean, easy to understand calibration tool is a must, and a Rollr Precision Marker is the answer!

The patent pending radiolucent sphere holder and a size indicator sphere come together to allow perfect visibility of the sphere on the image as taken from any direction. A millimeter marker on the sphere holder indicates the size of the sphere that is being used.

The suction cup base allows the unit to be firmly secured to a flat table or a vertical wall bucky board that is close to the patient. The small footprint of the suction cup does not interfere with the patient, the technologist, nor limit its use.

The flexible gooseneck arm is perfect for positioning the calibration sphere as close as possible to the critical anatomy. The arm is covered with a smooth, crevice-free surface that allows for easy sanitation.

The autoclavable unit comes with the suction stand and one calibration sphere. Additional spheres can be bought separately in packs of six (6).

CM Ruler Markers

The personalized R & L marker sets or the stand alone 3cm ruler are specifically designed for Teleradiology, CR and DR Imaging, where the image-size does not always match the life-size anatomy. Place a marker on the Receptor Plate and capture the radiographed anatomy. The image of the unique 3cm ruler gives an immediate visual and measureable cue as to the size of the screen image compared to the life size anatomy. Each marker has a lead 3cm ruler. Color coded: L-Blue, R-Red. High density lead characters.
